What Is Going On Tonight
Owenstock Lodge, No. 15, I. O. O. F., meets at 8:30 Main street.

Mrs. Jennie Lachapelle was brought before the police court Wednesday morning charged with receiving and purchasing stolen merchandise consisting of a quantity of corn stolen from the freight car in the rear of the Willimantic Grain company building. She had appeared at court Monday morning of this week on a similar charge only to be discharged for lack of evidence. The renewal of the charge against Mrs. Lachapelle Wednesday morning was because of the statement made Tuesday by the Peck, Provost and Sarakowski boys who said they sold her a bag of corn. They said Mrs. Lachapelle gave them a dollar to spend when examining the freight car. They said she sold them a bag of corn. They said she sold them a bag of corn. They said she sold them a bag of corn.

The stories of the three boys were contradictory in many ways. Peck and Provost telling Prosecuting Attorney Samuel H. Harvey that they thought the bag of corn to Mrs. Lachapelle but did not sell it to her. They said Mrs. Lachapelle gave them a dollar to spend when examining the freight car. They said she sold them a bag of corn. They said she sold them a bag of corn. They said she sold them a bag of corn.

Stories circulated about this city that Mrs. Belle Weldon, whose body was found in the Willimantic river Tuesday morning, had met with foul play were discredited by the police and coroner Arthur G. Hill of Danbury after a thorough investigation of all reports. The coroner's verdict of accidental drowning stands. Mrs. Weldon was seen to go into the house on Pleasant street by Dr. M. D. Rindley and Guy De Marco and the people in the house informed them that Mrs. Weldon would be cared for. Later after leaving the Pleasant street house she was not seen until the body was noticed in the water near the Quilnicks-Windham Manufacturing plant.

Mrs. Willimantic Caluso and Eugene Le-mire were united in marriage Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock at St. Mary's church by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Papillon. The nuptial mass was celebrated by Rev. H. Bellet. During the mass special prayers were rendered by the choir. Several pleasing selections were given by Joseph F. Gaudreau, with Mrs. Gaudreau at the organ. The witnesses were P. J. Marg, brother-in-law of the bride and Harvey Lemire, brother of the groom. The bride wore a dress of headed champagne tulle with hat to match and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Lemire left by automobile on their honeymoon part of which will be spent at the old sort—and the new

Corns used to be treated by fakers. But science has found a better way to treat corns. And millions have adopted it.

The modern way is Blue-jay—liquid or plaster. A famous chemist perfected it. This great surgical dressing house prepares it.

It is folly to pare corns or to treat them in unsanitary ways.

Blue-jay is applied by a touch. The corn pain ends instantly. Then the corn is gently loosened. In a little while it comes out.

Prove this tonight.
